

Wide Roll Up Stands

Model#: CRS700-60

Extra wide roll up banner stands are often referred to as "Media Backdrop" due to the fact that they are often used as a backdrop to press conferences or in television interviews with sports stars or other celebrities. Wide banner stands like these are often also used as backdrops for exhibitions or trade shows. They are great for this purpose as they are easily transported – the banner simply retracts back into the base of the unit which then packs away into the carrying bag for transport. The pole is in sections on a bungee cord and folds away inside the unit when packed; it then fits inside the carrying bag. This is a lightweight unit and suitable for indoor use only as exposure to wind would make it unstable. Its primary use is for exhibition and shows, but the possibilities are endless.
